Public Works has discovered leak at the intersection of Catherine and Patterson Street

McKellar, Ontario – Today the Township of McKellar Public Works Department discovered what appears to be an oil leak at the intersection of Catherine Street and Patterson Street, which is currently leaking into Lake Manitouwabing. The spill is now contained with the use of booms and the Ministry of Environment is on scene to investigate the substance and the source.

Please be advised to not use the lake water in this area until further notice. Updates will be forthcoming as soon as they are available.
